Dear Friend,

As you may know, it is my pleasure to serve on the Joint Committee on the Library that has oversight over the Library of Congress.

In that capacity, I have just been notified of an exciting opportunity for college students from the 3rd District of California. The Library of Congress—the largest library in the world and considered by many to be the most beautiful building in Washington—is offering a paid summer internship. Summer interns, working with curators and the collections of the Library of Congress, will be exposed to a broad spectrum of library work: preservation, reference, access standards, information management, and the United States copyright system.

James H. Billington, Librarian of Congress; Daniel O'Stevens, junior fellow intern; and Rep. Dan Lungren pause for a photo in Rep. Lungren's office.

Last year I nominated Daniel O'Brien of Sacramento for this internship. Daniel worked in the Rare Book and Special Collections Division. With the other 49 fellows, Daniel uncovered previously uncataloged items such as copies of the Virginia and New Jersey Plans which are the basis for our bicameral legislature and an April 1865 issue of the Weekly National Republican that reports on the Lincoln assassination and its aftermath.

Although there is a regular application process through the Library of Congress, I have been afforded the opportunity to nominate an undergraduate or graduate student.

To apply, follow the instructions at <http://www.loc.gov/hr/jrfellows/about.html#process> exactly except email the completed application (and letters of recommendation) to josiah.prendergast@mail.house.gov where a member of my District Office staff will review the application. The deadline for applications to my office is March 18. Applicants will need to be available for a phone interview on March 19 from 12:00 pm - 5:00 pm PST.

Please be sure to forward this email to friends and family who may know of someone who would be interested in this internship. More information about the internship is available at <http://www.loc.gov/hr/jrfellows/about.html>.

I appreciate the opportunity to serve you. If you have any questions, or if you are in need of assistance on another matter, please feel free to contact my District Office staff in Gold River at (916) 859-9906.

Sincerely,

Daniel E. Lungren
Member of Congress
